Twin Cities Pride 50th Anniversary

Like all pride celebrations, its roots can be traced back to the infamous Stonewall riots of 1969 and the ripples of unrest and protest that spread across America in response. Approximately 50 people attended Minnesota's inaugural, proto-pride protest in 1972, on the third anniversary of Stonewall, but only about half of them marched down the Nicollet Mall; the other half waited in nearby Loring Park, ready to bail out their friends and loved ones if and when they were arrested. The week of celebrating kicks off with Pride Family Fun Day, a free BBQ with games for kids at Como Park June 19.

Juneteenth

Juneteenth also called Emancipation Day, Freedom Day, Jubilee Day and Black Independence Day, marks our country's second independence day. Even though the Emancipation Proclamation was made effective in 1863 it wasn't until June 19, 1865, when Union troops arrived in Galveston Bay, Texas to announce the executive decree to the 250,000 still enslaved black people. In 2021 Juneteenth became a federally recognized holiday. Celebrate with the MPLS Parks & Rec at Bethune Park or join the fun at the West Broadway Block Party June 19th 8am-6pm more info

Community Input for New Police Chief

The search and selection process for the new Police Chief has begun. The City of Minneapolis and Public Sector Search & Consulting, Inc. are asking for the community's input. Take the survey
